The New East Pavilion

Plans for the new eight-story East Pavilion include an additional 154 beds. The Pediatrics Department will occupy the entire seventh floor, expanding and improving present facilities.

The sixth floor will be devoted entirely to operating rooms for both major and minor surgery. Research facilities will be expanded.

The main kitchen, the laundry, power plant and cafeteria taxed by the increase in patient and employe service will be enlarged and improved.

The main hospital entrance will be located in the new East Pavilion where the central bank of elevators, a snack bar, and gift shop will provide greater convenience for visitors.

Foreword

To the Friends of The Presbyterian Hospital:

In the following pages those people who have the chief administrative responsibilities in the Hospital have recorded in brief form what they consider the most important developments of 1949. Added together, these condensed statements outline our many-sided activities during a year of great accomplishment and still greater promise.

I say they "outline" what the Hospital has done. Even if they were extended to many times their present length they would fall far short of being a complete record of the past year. That record, the real record, can never be set down in words or figures. It can be found in the minds and hearts and memories of grateful patients; in the devotion of nurses and physicians; in the spirit in which every employee has done more than was asked of him; in the hopes and fears of all sorts and conditions of men and women; in their smiles and in their tears. For through the rooms and corridors of this hospital has flowed a never-ending stream of human life, with all that makes life so bewildering, so tragic, and so sublime.

To record the flow of that stream is quite impossible. All we have done in this report is to single out a few significant facts, and to leave the rest unsaid.

During the year the Hospital learned that the Sprague Nurses' Home must be vacated by April, 1951, to make way for the Congress Street super-highway. Condemnation proceedings have been completed, and the Hospital has been paid $800,005 for its real estate on the north side of Congress Street.

Faced with the necessity of building a new Nurses' Home, the Board of Managers decided to make this unhappy development the occasion for re-studying the entire program of the Hospital. They knew that whatever such a study might show to be needed, would be quickly provided by the friends of the Hospital.

As a result of this study, in which the Medical Staff cooperated, plans have now been approved for a Nurses' Home that will house approximately 300 young women, and will have no superior anywhere; for an east pavilion, to add 160 beds to the hospital's capacity; for an additional floor on the Rawson Building, to be equipped for research laboratories; and for extensive modernization of present buildings. The cost of this work will be something over six million dollars.

The Board has contracted with Burnham and Hammond, Inc., of Chicago, for architectural services; with Walter Dorwin Teague of New York for interior decorating; and with R. C. Wieboldt Company, of Chicago, for the construction. Work on the Nurses' Home has been in progress for several months.

The Committee of the Board in direct charge of this notable development consists of Clarence S. Woolman, Chairman, Alfred E. Hamill, Vice-Chairman, Alfred T. Carton, Philip R. Clarke, Albert B. Dick, Jr., John M. Simpson, and R. Douglas Stuart. To them, and to the members of the Medical Staff who have worked with them, the Hospital owes a heavy debt of gratitude.

To advise the Hospital in the fund-raising which this program necessitates, the Board has employed Will, Folsom and Smith, Inc., of New York. Already we have profited greatly by the experience which this firm of hospital specialists has placed at our disposal.

The Central Committee in charge of the fund raising has been fortunate enough to persuade Mr. Albert B. Dick, Jr. to serve as its Chairman. Assisting him are members of the Board of Managers, the Medical Staff, and the Woman's Board. As of today, May 1, 1950, the preliminary organizational steps have all been taken, and the campaign, the first public appeal for funds in the history of the Hospital, is under way.

To the great regret of every one associated with the Hospital, Mr. Philip R. Clarke, President of our Board of Managers, asked to be relieved of the responsibilities of this office. Accordingly, on October 5, the Board reluctantly accepted his resignation, elected him to a Vice-Presidency, and expressed as best it could the Hospital's gratitude for many years of devoted and selfless service. At the same meeting the undersigned was elected to the Presidency.

Only one change in the personnel of the Board took place during the year. On October 5 Mr. John McKinlay tendered his resignation as a Manager, which the Board accepted with sincere regret. At the same meeting he was unanimously elected an Honorary Manager.

The rest of the story of 1949, in so far as it can be reduced to writing, appears in the following pages.

FRANKLYN B. SNYDER.

Report of the Superintendent

Great institutions, like great ships at sea, must be held to carefully charted courses. Accurate reckoning of the conditions and currents affecting hospital operations, taking soundings of the current developments in medicine, and exploring new ideas through our extensive research laboratories, are part of the everyday operation of the Presbyterian Hospital in providing the best care for patients. Confronted as we are today with tides of uncertain range, and currents of shifting force and direction, the safest course is the course that we as a voluntary institution, operating since 1883, have found to be the best—that of serving the public through care of the patient, education of doctors and nurses, and research in many fields.

Over the 67 years that the hospital has been in operation, we have enjoyed the confidence of the public in their use of the hospital facilities, and their desire by gift and endowment to perpetuate this voluntary institution. The services of doctors, laymen who have served on the Board of Managers, the Woman's Board, the churches, the employees and friends of the hospital, have combined year in and year out to render an ever enlarging record of service to the sick.

In 1949, 14,807 patients were admitted to the hospital for care which exceeds by 324 the previous high mark recorded in 1948. This increase in the number of admissions was due in part to the 1,986 births, a record number for any one year, and exceeding again the previous high mark recorded in 1948 by 175. Patient days of care amounted to 142,202, indicating an average length of stay in the general hospital, excluding maternity and pediatrics, of 11.2 days which is a decrease of half a day from 1948.

On December 4, 1949 the 500,000th patient was admitted to the hospital, giving evidence of the service which the Presbyterian Hospital has been privileged to render since our founding in 1883.

The demand for service continues to exceed the available beds so that throughout the year a waiting list, most of the time in excess of 100, was recorded. This presents complications in which the patients and the doctors have been most understanding. Voluntary insurance plans have stabilized this demand for care so that we are finding a little more than 50 per cent of the patients have insurance to assist them in meeting the cost of care, two-thirds of this being Blue Cross and one-third commercial insurance companies. The growth and importance of the Blue Cross movement and its impact on hospitals can readily be seen in a comparison of a few figures for Presbyterian Hospital alone. In 1940, the Blue Cross Plan paid the hospital $44,521 for 7,067 days of care. In 1949, ten years later, corresponding figures were $564,063 for 42,579 days of care. Such growth shows clearly the desire of the public to meet the cost of hospital care on a voluntary basis.

The combined operation of the hospital, School of Nursing, Central Free Dispensary and the research activities resulted in an excess of income over expense of $20,595. No charge to operations for depreciation on building is made, but operating results reflect repairs and changes necessary in keeping the plant up to operating efficiency. This result is shown after an expenditure from hospital funds of $221,985 in the care of free and part pay patients, in the support of Central Free Dispensary, and in the maintenance of properties used for teaching and research.

During the year the operating room suite was rehabilitated providing new lighting and air conditioning to add to the comfort of patients, surgeons and nursing staff during the hot weather. Other physical changes provided five new examining rooms and a waiting room to serve ambulatory patients who wish to see doctors at the hospital. In a former elevator and stairway shaft, nine new adult beds and four pediatric beds were provided, which units were opened in 1950. Among some of the other changes were laboratories to meet the needs of service to patients, remodeling of cashiers' and telephone offices, and a fully automatic film developer and drying machine for the X-Ray Department.

In December, 1949 work was begun on the new residence for nurses on the south side of Harrison Street. This building will occupy the site of the old laboratory building razed to provide a proper setting for the new structure which should be ready in 1951.

The razing of the old laboratory building is but a part of the development going on in the Medical Center District. Plans which seemed only to be on paper are now being realized in many old buildings being torn down to provide for the new Congress Street Highway. This will greatly improve the area surrounding the hospital.

Gifts to the Endowment Fund during the year aggregated $192,366.87 and brought the total endowment of the hospital to $7,381,051.71 as of December 31, 1949.

Included in the gifts were additional distributions under the wills of Dr. Arthur Dean Bevan of $73,912, Eugene R. Pike of $11,876 and William F. Bode $1,290.

From the estate of Miriam L. Graham $66,575 was received, $10,000 to name the Adam Graham and Agnes Graham room, and a specific purpose fund of $56,575 to be known as the Agnes R. and Martha A. Graham Endowed Nurse Fund, the income therefrom to be used to provide private duty nurse care for patients in need of such service but unable to pay the cost.

Additions to other endowed nurse funds were: to the Gladys Foster Endowed Nurse Fund, $5,037 from the estate of Caroline W. Reynolds; to the Asa S. Bacon Endowed Nurse Fund, $5,286 from the Woman's Board; from John M. Simpson an unrestricted gift of $10,200; from the estate of Harry Rice Arthur, $10,779; from the estate of Henry W. Austin, who served as Treasurer of the Central Free Dispensary for many years, $1,062.

To meet the needs of patients 365 days of the year is still the principal purpose of the Presbyterian Hospital, and we look forward to the future confident that all who have helped to write the history of service as recorded in the past will continue their efforts on behalf of the hospital in the future.

LESLIE D. REID.

Report of the Medical Director

"Dedicated to the quest of knowledge, to relieve suffering, and to prolong life"—this ancient motto of Rush Medical College and its daughter, The Presbyterian Hospital, is being enriched increasingly with every year. This Hospital, since its beginning, has been a teaching hospital and the spirit of investigation, largely clinical in the past, has been gradually developed by the friends of the Hospital, the Board of Managers, and the attending staff. We are now able to say that the Presbyterian Hospital of the City of Chicago is one of the unique hospitals of the world. It has been said that the Presbyterian Hospital of Chicago is the only private institution of its type in America which is affiliated with a tax supported Medical School.

The Central Free Dispensary, (the out-patient department of the Presbyterian Hospital) is the oldest private dispensary west of the Allegheny Mountains, having its origin in 1839. It continues to be a genuine refuge for the scientific and humanitarian care of the sick poor and at the same time to be a reservoir of material for teaching and research. In the last year the Department of Surgery has revitalized its surgical clinics so that now every Department of the Hospital is doing exemplary work in the Central Free Dispensary. It will be a pleasure to the friends of the Hospital to know that every patient is given a complete physical examination no matter how minor is the entering medical complaint. There are no short-cuts to accuracy. The Central Free Dispensary enjoys a well-earned prestige in Chicago, its facilities are in good order, its rooms and corridors have been completely repainted, and practically every square foot of floor space is being utilized.

The undergraduate educational program, in affiliation with the University of Illinois College of Medicine, is concerned especially with about 85 medical students each quarter. The Hospital provides them the opportunity to study and observe private practice on the highest level.

The graduate medical education program of the Hospital concerns a total of 85 house officers. This consists of 20 internes, 59 residents, and 6 fellows. These young doctors may prepare themselves for the general practice of medicine in a two year period at the Hospital, or they may continue for additional years in the department of their choice in the Hospital or laboratories for the fulfillment of the requirements of the specialty examining boards.

The increasing contribution which the Presbyterian Hospital is making to American medical education and to the care of the sick, is in actually bringing the problems of the bedside to the laboratory and the interests of the laboratory worker to the bedside. In these educational opportunities, the training of our nurses will be a vital part of this program.

The policies and program of education and research is a community of effort of the entire staff. The responsibility for performance is centralized in the Committee on Research and Education. It is in the deliberations of this committee that the full time chairmen of the basic science departments meet with the chairmen of all of the clinical departments of the hospital staff, the Dean of the University of Illinois College of Medicine, and the Board of Managers' Committee on Research and Education. This united liaison between the medical staff and the Board of Managers is unique at Presbyterian Hospital in the close understanding between the professional mind and the lay mind, so that the Board of Managers will be able to make the most advantageous use of funds available in the fulfillment of the wishes of the donors to the Hospital.

The scientific life of the entire attending staff is a very active one. Practically every doctor on the attending staff gives a definite part of each day to the scientific program of the Hospital in education or research. These activities are supplemented by 18 different seminars throughout each week of the year, a bulletin board listing these seminars is on the wall behind the Information Desk at the Hospital.

During the past year 10 projects of research have been completed and the results have been published. Six other projects gave negative results and the work was discontinued. Ten additional grants-in-aid have been awarded and are still in progress. But we are not concerned only with numbers. We are concerned with the quality of the work and this is the subject of constant scrutiny. But greater than all is the quality of the men who are at Presbyterian Hospital and who have been brought to it. It is to this quality that we look back into our history with pleasure, to our present with genuine pride, and to our future with great expectations.

Report of the President of the Medical Staff

It is impossible to enumerate all of the nearly one hundred research projects that are being undertaken at this time by the members of the Presbyterian Hospital Staff in their constant endeavor to prolong human life and alleviate suffering. It is only possible to touch on a few of those of more especial interest, as every Department of the Hospital is sharing in this work.

An example of the modern physiological techniques is seen in correlating research made by the Departments of Medicine, Surgery, Pathology and Bio-chemistry in a study of the mechanisms involved in cardiac, circulatory and respiratory failure. The result of this research has been a method of pre-operative diagnosis of conditions now remediable by cardiac surgery, to the medical treatment of cardiac failure, and the appraisal of pulmonary failure from the point of view of both medical and surgical treatment. Heart conditions and diseases that a few years ago were considered hopeless now may be treated either surgically or medically with success.

Considerable progress has been made in the surgery of congenital heart defects. At the present time work is underway in the Department of Surgery to overcome the stenosis of the mitral valve, which as yet has not been practical in the human. In a similar field experimental anastomosis of the carotid artery with the internal jugular vein may clinically supply the brain cortex with blood where injury in children has led to retardation of their mental capacity.

Emphasis has been made during the last year on a study of the new substances ACTH and cortisone. Research has been undertaken during the past year in the Departments of Surgery, Pathology and Bio-chemistry on their use in the treatment of malignant tumors, and by the Department of Medicine in diseases associated with hypersensitivity, and in blood disturbances.

Further problems in surgical technique have been studies on the early closure of cleft palates, and correction of cleft lip. Experimental skin grafting for the treatment of extensive skin destruction of burns. The peripheral vascular diseases have been studied by arterial blood oxygen studies, cholesterol levels and anticoagulants. Intra-vascular clotting has been partially controlled as a result of experiments on heparin and it is hoped that the recently discovered Ac-globulin, the prothrombin accelerator, may further aid this problem. Isotopes that have an affinity for necrotic tissue have been sought for, and blood volume by radio-active phosphorus has been studied.

The wastage of human life from infertility, prenatal illnesses in the mother, and premature labor has long been an important problem. The Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology has been undertaking a long term study in collaboration with the Department of Medicine to observe the effect of nutrition on these mothers. Not only is their caloric and various food intake thoroughly charted, but also their blood components and metabolic features observed. In this minute way any defects or maternal changes can be followed and their actions, good or bad, on the course of pregnancy and the final end results observed.

As an example of cooperation between various departments in an endeavor to solve some of the problems of the premature infant, the Department of Pediatrics and the Department of Ophthalmology have been undertaking a study of the eyes of premature infants with particular reference to rentro-lental fibroplasia. This is a new disease which is seen at the present time only because formerly it was very uncommon to save the life of a premature infant under three pounds. This disease is found only in infants of this initial birth weight. Thus by saving the lives of these very small infants a new disease has been added that we must combat.

One of the greatest causes of mortality in the premature infant is failure of the lungs to expand at birth (atelectasis). This is now being studied jointly by the Departments of Pediatrics, Oto-Laryngology, and Roentgenology. Roentgenograms are made immediately after birth and many of these very small infants are now bronchoscoped and their air passages cleared and opened, so that many of these babies that formerly died are now living.

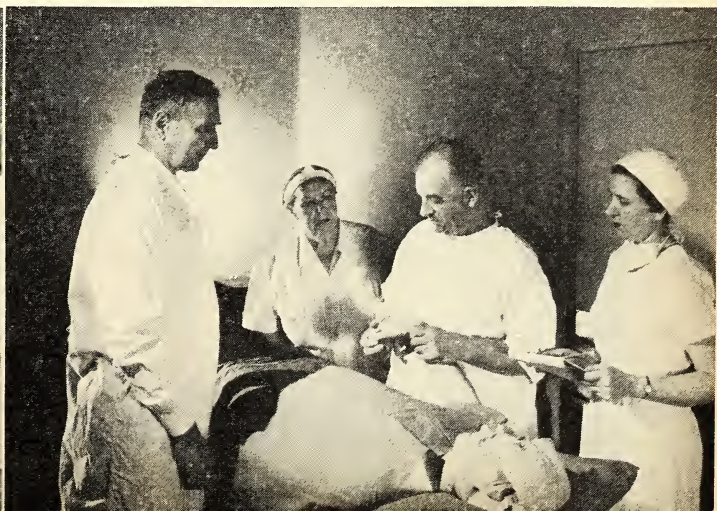

This can only give a small idea of our work, and touches on only a few of the many problems that are being studied by the members of our Staff. I call your attention to the bibliography of articles published by our Staff to really obtain an idea of the immense amount of fine research work that these men and women are doing.

HEYWORTH N. SANFORD, M.D.

A Research Laboratory

Preparation for Surgery

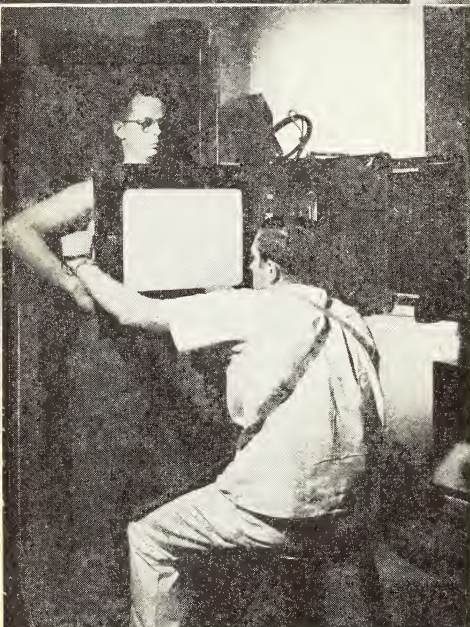

Central Free Dispensary

A backward look at 1949 brings into view throngs of daily visitors to Central Free Dispensary, more than eleven thousand individuals, many of whom made multiple clinic visits, increasing the total attendance for the year to 82,916.

These people were the acute and chronically ill and the injured seeking relief and cure. They were young babies, undernourished, ill, crippled, brought to the clinic by worried mothers such as the young woman who came pleading for help for her partially blind baby. They were the older people like the little lady of eighty-nine, suffering from heart trouble, who in gratitude and sincerity said, "I am going to do something for the Dispensary as soon as I am able to go back to work." They were white people and negroes, and displaced persons from foreign countries, some of them a little distrustful and afraid. They were school children, young people trying to get along on small earnings in a big city, and many veterans of the two world wars. They were people who have never been quite able to meet their responsibilities unassisted, and those who have known comforts and luxuries before illness and bad luck came their way.

These people came asking for help because they were sick and unable to pay for private medical care.

What do we have to offer them? First, a complete physical examination, including the use of all the diagnostic facilities of the Dispensary and Presbyterian Hospital, such as x-rays, basal metabolism, electrocardiograph and laboratory tests; and then treatment by doctors, 143 of them, most of whom are on the staff of the Presbyterian Hospital, organized in departments to study and treat special diseases, who give their time without remuneration. It would not be possible to estimate in dollars and cents this generous contribution by busy doctors; nor can we tell you of the extensive saving in the use of hospital beds because of the treatment of thousands of patients on an out-patient basis. This is especially true since some of the newer and more effective drugs have been available for use in the Dispensary.

Last year one druggist and a part time assistant filled 62,442 prescriptions for Dispensary patients, most of which were given to persons receiving totally free service.

Because of emphasis on chest x-rays, there was a sharp increase during 1949 in the number of suspected cases of tuberculosis. For this reason a new chest clinic was organized to follow up on such cases until final diagnosis is made and treatment of patient assured.

Social workers are called upon for assistance when patients find it hard to accept diagnoses and medical recommendations of doctors. From their perspective social workers see personal difficulties that may become barriers to effective medical treatment; and more favorable conditions often result from their efforts to procure cooperation of the patient's family and to coordinate available community facilities. During 1949 intensive case work service was given to 1,570 patients.

Since diet is fundamental in the treatment of many diseases, two full time dietitians are included on the staff. Patients requiring therapeutic diets are advised as to the selection and preparation of food and limitation of quantities. It is hoped that this instruction plus the attempt of dietitians to educate mothers in normal diets, will result in economical purchases of foods and proper and nutritious meals for the patients' families. Last year 13,202 conferences were held with individuals and 3,665 patients instructed in classes.

The purpose for which the Central Free Dispensary was organized was to relieve suffering and rehabilitate the sick poor. To this end doctors and employees give their efforts.

HATTIE A. BRACK.

The Report of the Chaplain

The Chaplain does two things. He calls on people who ask him to; he conducts a short religious service each Sunday morning.

Patients are invited to the chapel service through cards placed on their Sunday breakfast trays. The attendance, which varies from week to week, is never large, yet many words of gratitude for his brief message reach the Chaplain and later lead to calls at the patient's bedside. Such contacts with people who seek religious help are the greatest value of the service.

The Chaplain's chief work is visiting in the rooms and wards, and last year he made over 3,000 patient visits; some very brief and others taking considerable time. For in a great hospital such as Presbyterian the patients have all backgrounds and they come from everywhere—from New York and California; Florida and Alaska, and all the places in between. The Chaplain meets the old, the young; the rich and poor; the learned, the untutored; the weak and the strong. They become strangely alike in their deeper need.

He learns to recognize and face this truth, that regardless of habitat and habit, when illness threatens, when accidents or suffering introduce their bleak uncertainty into life, people all covet the assurance of faith, the therapy of the loving heart. And how inspiring to the Chaplain to know that he carries about with him in his unseen pharmacopoeia the medicament universally indicated!

Yes, his is an exciting responsibility, not an indifferent, routine task apart from the flow of vibrant living, but one tense with the throbbing issues that make life. His is an important task in the healing ministry. So important that the Chaplain covets greater skill in the art of helpful listening, and in speaking the guiding, sustaining, and reassuring word.

And invariably people are grateful for the Chaplain's interest, his visits, his advice. "Please come again" is their unanimous invitation. Many former patients look to him for further counsel until today these people provide a sizable ministry by telephone and correspondence and keep alive in this Chaplain's mind the words of a great Christian, "Be kind, for everybody is having a hard fight."

The Report of the Woman's Board

Through the cooperation and loyal support of its 324 members, representing 53 churches, 39 general members, and 25 members of the Winnetka Auxiliary, the Woman's Board of Presbyterian Hospital sponsored numerous worthwhile activities during its 66th year of service to the hospital.

Receipts for the year totaled $40,721. Of this amount $11,555 was added to endowments. Another $14,603 was spent directly in the hospital for services, and $7,853 was used in the clinics for blood transfusions, liver extract, insulin and needles, expensive drugs and special appliances for needy patients.

The Woman's Board is proud of its contribution to the development and continuance of Social Service which celebrated its 40th anniversary in September 1949. During this past year our fund of $1,758 for Social Service was spent in various services for 283 patients. A total of 1,570 patients received case work. We sent 13 children—mostly cardiacs—to camp and gave a Christmas party for clinic children. Our Christmas Fund of $709 provided the gifts for 402 individuals.

For our Children's work in the hospital, Tag Day brought $3,040 for our current free care. The Babies Alumni collected $730 for free care of infants, and the Child's Free Bed Fund Committee raised $4,739—endowing our 15th Free Bed, and making a total of $79,590 in that fund. The Woman's Board also assumed half of the expense and salary of a nurse for the Infant Welfare Clinic. Our Children's committee provided for the observance of all special occasions and holidays on the Children's floor and was responsible for the gift of a spinet piano and a television set for the enjoyment of the children.

We continued the support of the library, circulation 16,498 books, and provided magazines for 16 waiting rooms. New albums were donated for the record library to be used for programs on the Magnavox for patients and personnel.

The Thanksgiving Fund Committee raised $4,838 on behalf of the Asa S. Bacon Memorial Ward Free Nurse through 18 teas and from the donations of church groups and individuals. Memorial gifts also, unless otherwise specified, were applied to the Bacon Fund.

Our Winnetka Auxiliary, whose special project is a Teen-Ager Ward, gave a tea from which it received $3,002. Of this amount $1,501 was allocated to the General Fund of the Woman's Board and the balance to the Barbara Ann Smith Memorial, bringing that fund to $11,240 and thereby designating a two-bed ward for teen-age girls.

Twenty-six churches participated in sewing and knitting 635 garments for the shop, the Children's and Social Service Departments, and in sewing 12,466 articles for the linen room. Soap wrappers were redeemed for 238 pieces of silver.

From 29 churches the Delicacies Committee collected 3,534 glasses of jelly and fruit juice for ward patients.

We have continued the Volunteer service with 107 volunteers giving 8,550 hours of service.

The School of Nursing Committee raised $1,526 at a Fashion Tea and was therefore able to buy books for the nurses' library, pay half the expense of a delegate to the International Nursing Conference, give scholarships, and two $100 awards to outstanding graduates, rent films for the school, support the nurses' choir and other recreational activities. The Committee also gave its annual Get-Acquainted Tea for the Freshman class.

Not the least of our contributions is the building of good will through orientation tours in the Hospital, and the informative talks by department heads and members of the medical staff at our regular meetings; by providing speakers for our Thanksgiving teas and for other groups to tell the story of the fine medical service and extensive research program of the Presbyterian Hospital.

Report on the School of Nursing

The 47th Annual Report of the School of Nursing will very briefly enumerate the changes that have been made in the school during 1949. It will list the most urgent needs of the school and suggest ways and means of meeting these needs.

Early in the year we were able, through the generosity of the Woman's Board, to employ a graduate nurse for half-time for the Well Baby Clinic in the Dispensary. Also, we employed a graduate nurse on the Bacon Endowed Nurse Fund for the late afternoon and evening hours.

In order to build up the number and quality of our non-professional staff, Miss Dorothy Provine was employed on February 1st to be in full charge of this group.

In the March and September classes we admitted 84 new students. On December 31st, 70 of these remained, making the loss at that time approximately 17%.

Two capping exercises were held during the year, and 55 nurses were graduated.

Because the nurse shortage was so very acute, it became necessary to close one ward (F Corridor) the last week in July. Even though this relieved the situation somewhat, the pressure of work continued to be very marked throughout the summer and fall. Appeals to the Woman's Board and Alumnae Association brought some relief.

The school was fortunate to receive several grants that could be used as financial aid to promising entering students and students already in the school. Eighteen students have received some form of aid from these funds.

Much time was spent in planning with the architects for the new nurses' residence and school building. This building will include the finest classroom, laboratory, and library facilities. It will provide adequate space for recreation rooms, small parlors, sewing, and music rooms. Each student will have her own bedroom with access to the showers, laundry and lounge located on each floor. It is a great satisfaction to have this project so satisfactorily under way.

Also time consuming were the many meetings and conferences held at the University of Illinois to plan the affiliate program. The agreement between the University and the affiliating schools was set up on August 19, 1949.

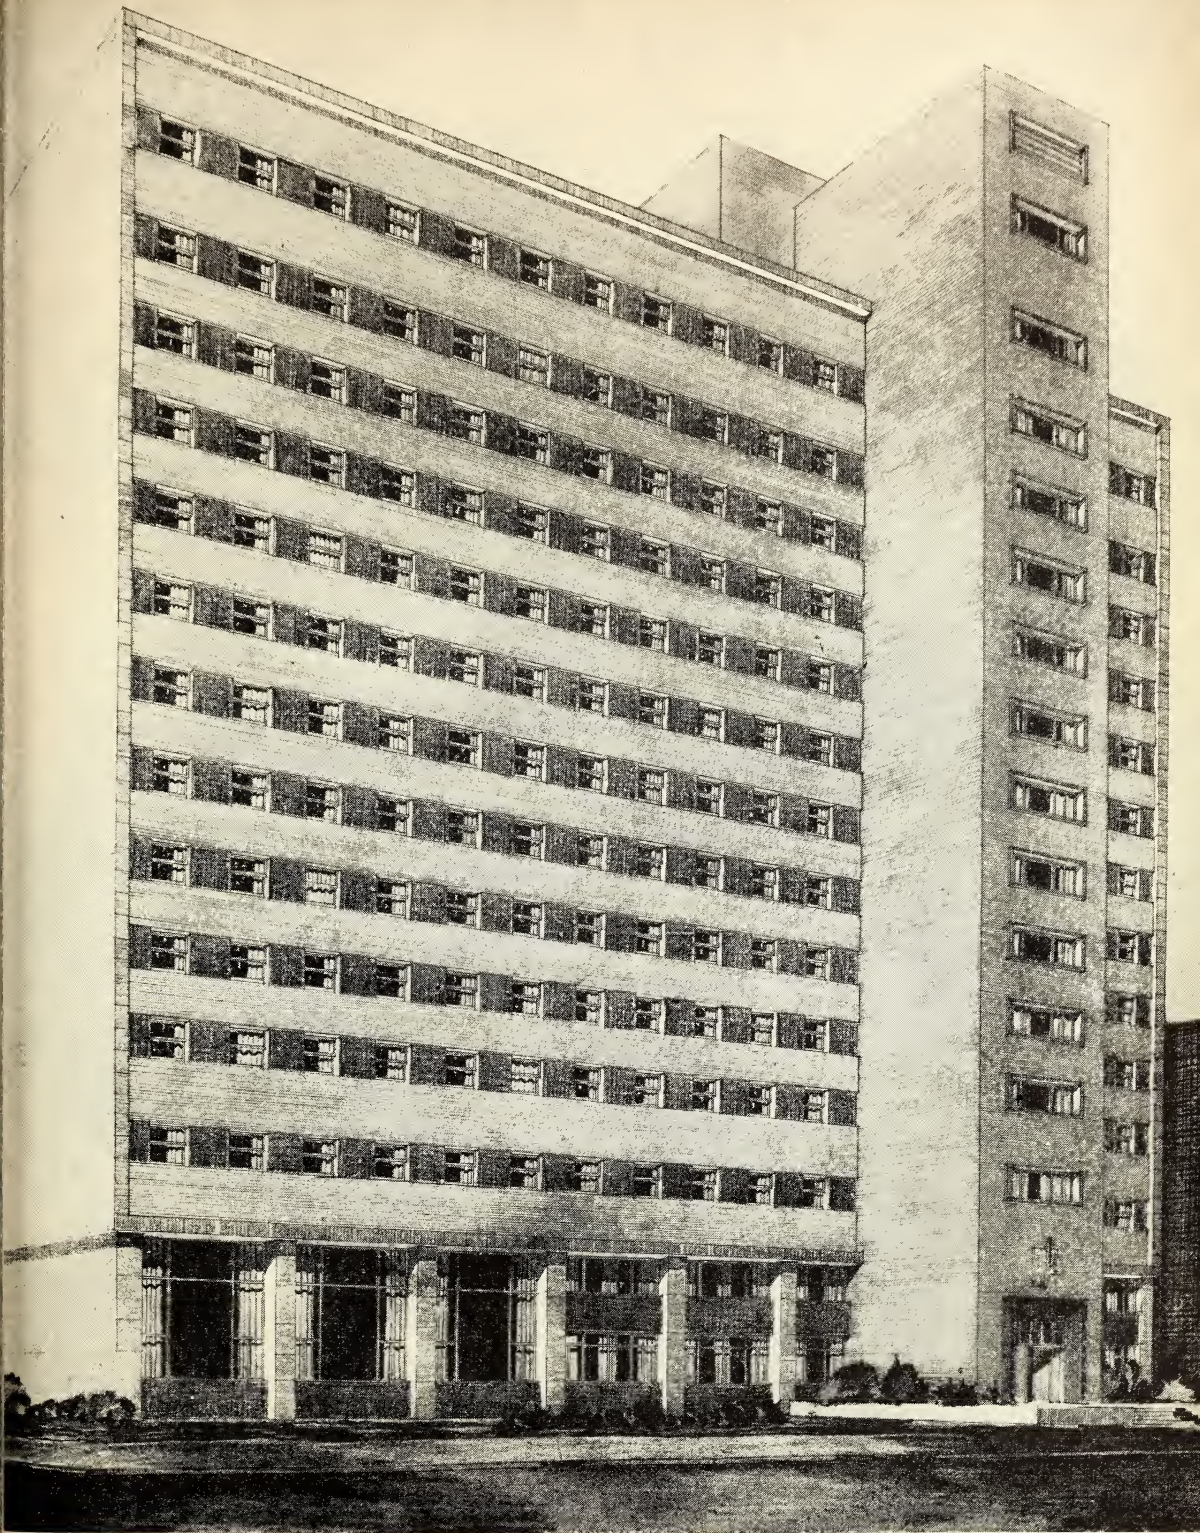

Some adjustments in the curriculum and the working hours of nurses had to be made in order to fulfill the requirements of the University. Most important of these were to add hours of formal class work to the courses in obstetrics and pediatrics; to put the students on a 44 instead of a 48 hour week for duty and class and to increase very considerably the hours devoted to ward teaching.

The first two of these requirements have been met, but it has not been possible to enlarge the ward teaching program to any appreciable extent. In order to do that, we shall have to employ more full time graduate general duty nurses in order to stabilize the service, and we must also employ additional and well-prepared clinical instructors to carry out this program.

The above was also a recommendation of the State Board of Nurse Examiners after its survey on January 9 and of the National Nursing Accrediting Service. The school retained its approval of the latter service and was placed in the upper quarter of schools in the United States offering basic programs in nursing.

In closing, I should like to express appreciation of the Nursing Department to all who have contributed so generously, the Board of Managers, the Woman's Board, the Administration, and the Doctors for their time and effort spent in teaching classes and in professional care of personnel of the department.

HENRIETTA FROEHLKE, R.N.

The new 15-story School of Nursing and Residence now being built at 1743 W. Harrison Street will replace the Sprague Home for Nurses which must be torn down for the Congress Street Highway.
